
Calderdale Compact

TOOLKIT

Resource pack to help you implement the Calderdale Compact

What is the Compact?

The Calderdale Compact is an agreement between different organisations. It aims to help us all work together better so that we can achieve more for people in Calderdale.

It is aimed at different types of organisation (or “sectors”) that work in our area:

- public sector agencies, like the Council, the Primary Care Trust, the police
- voluntary and community sector groups, like Voluntary Action Calderdale, Barnardos, tenants’ groups, Scouts, rugby clubs
- private sector organisations, like shops and businesses

The Compact has been drawn up by the Council, NHS Calderdale, Voluntary Action Calderdale and Calderdale Forward. It sets out commitments for these different sectors to make to their partners. These commitments are like promises that we make to each other. We promise to show each other respect, to understand our different roles and to work through arguments and conflicts.

The Compact also sets out in detail the best way of working for four key areas: funding, volunteering, consultation and working with community groups.

What do I have to do?

The Compact has already been approved by Calderdale Forward, which is a partnership body that brings together a lot of different organisations in Calderdale.

Each individual organisation needs to consider what the Compact means for them specifically, so we are asking all organisations, including those represented on Calderdale Forward, to sign up for themselves.

When we sign up to the Compact we agree to:

- keep the promises that we make to our partners
- try to work towards best practice where we are involved in funding, volunteering, consultation and engaging community groups.

This can mean that we have to start making changes in the way we work. No-one is perfect, and no-one will meet everything that the Compact asks of them straight away. Your Compact partners aren’t expecting you to do everything immediately, or expecting you to do it on your own.

This toolkit is designed to help you work towards meeting the Compact. It is a step by step guide to meeting the requirements in the Compact. It contains guidelines, advice, action plans and details of all of the resources that are available to help you. There is also a Steering Group that is willing to help and advise you on the toolkit and how you can use it in your organisation.

What will the Compact achieve?

If we all follow the guidelines in the Compact, and keep the promises that we made to each other, then:

- when we work together in partnership, we can concentrate on getting things done. We won't be held up by arguments and misunderstandings between different partners. When there are conflicts between different partners, this won't stop partnerships working together.
- everyone who is involved in a partnership will be respected and valued equally for what they can contribute, from the Leader of the Council to a member of the smallest community group. The partnership will be able to get the most out of all of its partners.
- voluntary and community groups will be able to get to the funding that is appropriate for them. It will be clear how to apply for funding, and how decisions are made. When funders have to make difficult decisions about cutting or stopping funding, they will involve partners in their planning process. Funded organisations will feel that they are treated fairly. Funders will know what they are getting for their money.
- people will have more opportunity to influence decisions through consultations. It will be a normal and important part of our daily working lives to consult with our partners. When we consult people, we will genuinely take their views into account when we make decisions. People who take part in consultations will feel that they made a difference by getting involved.
- people in Calderdale will volunteer more. Volunteers will feel valued and supported by the organisations they work with. Groups that have volunteers will make the most of their contribution. We will celebrate the importance of volunteers in our society.
- community groups will be valued by and involved in partnerships. We will recognise the value of first hand experience. It will be easier for small community groups to be involved in processes like funding and consultation. Community groups will feel able to properly represent all of their members.

This won't all happen immediately, but the first step to making it happen is to sign up to the Compact and agree to start working towards these aims.

The Calderdale Compact is a collaborative project which has been developed by a Compact Steering Group.

The Compact Steering Group reports to Calderdale Forward, and is made up of officers from the following Calderdale Forward partners:

Calderdale Compact

Welcome to the Calderdale Compact Toolkit. The materials in this pack are designed to help you implement the Calderdale Compact in your own organisation, agency or service area.

All partners in Calderdale recognise that community leadership is a shared responsibility. The main aim of the Compact is to improve the way that partners work together to contribute to improving the social, economic and environmental well being of everyone who lives in, works in and visits Calderdale.

We recognise that it will take time for us all to meet the high standards of the Compact, but signing up to the Compact and using this toolkit will help you work towards achieving these aims.

This pack is designed to help your organisation, partnership or service area work in accordance with the Calderdale Compact, by helping you to identify where your partnership working can be improved, and what actions you can take to improve it. You should share the information in this toolkit throughout your organisation, making sure that everyone who is involved with partnership working is aware of the Compact, and what it means for them.

The pack also contains information on what you can expect from partners, and information on how you can get help to implement the Compact in your organisation.

Who are your partners?

Throughout this document, we talk about your partners. By “partners”, we mean anyone that you work with outside of your own organisation. This can include:

- formal partnerships like the Safer Communities Partnership, which has paid staff and a legal responsibility to do certain things.
- informal arrangements like two community groups agreeing to hold a joint summer festival.
- funding relationships, between a grant funder and the organisation receiving the money.
- volunteering arrangements, like employees from a private business offering to spend an afternoon painting a community centre.
- a network of voluntary groups, who get together to share information about fundraising.
- any other kind of arrangement where two or more people come together from different organisations to do something together.

Please note: In this toolkit, some parts are relevant for everyone. Other parts will only be relevant to you if you are from a particular sector, or if you do a particular type of activity. For example:

- when you come to look at Section 3: Your commitments, you will only want to fill in the sheet for your particular sector. e.g. if you are a voluntary group, you will complete the sheet headed “As a voluntary or community sector organisation, we recognise that...” You will not complete the sheets for the public sector or the private sector.

You should complete this toolkit for your own organisation, service area or partnership only.

This Compact is a working document that will be reviewed annually to make sure that it is relevant and effective. We will be inviting all Compact partners to take part in the review, but in the meantime, if you have any ideas for how we can improve the Compact, please contact us at any time.

Please see Page 3 of the toolkit for details of how to contact the Compact Steering Group.

Glossary

- An explanation of any words that might be unfamiliar

We have tried to avoid jargon or technical terms, but there are some words that we use that have a particular meaning. These are explained below.

Action Halifax	A not for profit regeneration partnership. We provide funding support to projects and are dedicated to making social, economic and environmental improvements to Halifax town centre and surrounding communities.
Active citizenship	This can be wider than just volunteering, and includes taking an active part in community life in its widest sense, including: Civic participation <ul style="list-style-type: none">- activities that include signing a petition, contacting a local councillor or public official working for a local council, attending a public meeting or rally, or contacting an MP. Informal volunteering <ul style="list-style-type: none">- giving unpaid help to an individual or others who are not members of the family. Formal volunteering <ul style="list-style-type: none">- giving unpaid help through groups, clubs or organisations to benefit other people or the environment (e.g. the protection of wildlife or improvement of public open spaces).
Calderdale Community Forum	Forum of representatives from voluntary and community groups in Calderdale.
Appropriate	Fitting, suitable, reasonably allowed
Calderdale Forward	Calderdale's local strategic partnership. A 'strategic partnership' is a body which brings together agencies from the public sector, representatives from the private and voluntary and community sectors and all other partnerships to provide a single voice for Calderdale. They make sure that everyone's plans are coordinated, and make the most of the resources we have by helping different agencies to work together.
Calderdale MBC	Calderdale Metropolitan Borough Council, the local authority for Calderdale.
Calderdale & Huddersfield NHS Trust	Calderdale and Huddersfield NHS Trust provides acute hospital care and outreach services to the local populations of Calderdale, Central and South Kirklees.

Community Engagement and Involvement	In its simplest sense, this is about involving communities in the services that they use. It includes working to help people know more about the services that are available and other decisions that affect their lives, and helping service providers to understand the needs of different communities better. It also includes giving people a chance to become involved in the way that decisions are made and enabling people to participate in changing things for themselves.
Community sector organisations/ community groups	Small groups of people who come together because of a shared interest or location to help themselves, or provide services to other people within their geographical community or community of interest. They tend to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - be led by members; - cover a neighbourhood, village, or specific community of interest; - have a less formal structure; - have a lower income, or no income; - be membership-based; - offer self-help and mutual support; - provide information and independent services; - represent community interests, residents and community members.
Consultation	The process of feeding views, comments and suggestions into the development or review of policies and plans. Organisations undertake consultation to ensure that policies and plans: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - are informed by a wide range of experience; - take into account the impact of proposals on different sectors of society and on different partners; - lead to services which better reflect people's needs and wishes; - identify problems quickly; - demonstrate the organisation's commitment to being open and accountable. Consultation can take place through a range of different methods, including written questionnaires, telephone surveys, focus groups and open meetings.
Funders	Any organisation or partnership or agency that gives funding to other bodies to provide services, deliver a project, buy or maintain equipment etc.

Infrastructure*	All the things and systems that aren't directly involved in providing a service, but which have to be there for services to operate efficiently or consistently, like management and administration, or communications and distribution networks. In the world generally, infrastructure means things like sewage systems, roads and bridges and electricity grids. In the voluntary sector, the word is often used to describe organisations like local development agencies (LDAs) which help other voluntary organisations work better by providing them with – amongst other things – information, advice, training, co-ordination, representation, and back-room services (like payroll).
Matchfunding*	Funding that depends on others also contributing - either the group's own fundraising or other grants or earned income.
NHS Calderdale	NHS Calderdale is responsible for overseeing services provided by GP's, dentists, pharmacists and opticians. We also provide community health services such as district nurses, school nurses and health visiting.
Private sector	Businesses, property and other enterprises that are run to make money for the people who run them, e.g. through making a profit for their shareholders, through providing a salary for their directors or through being an investment for their owners.
Public sector organisations	Organisations and agencies that are under the overall control of the government or civil service, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - local authorities such as Calderdale MBC; - the police; - the health family, i.e. the NHS Calderdale, the Hospital Trust etc; - regional development agencies like Yorkshire Forward etc.
Proscribed	Forbidden, excluded, not welcome.
Stakeholders	These are people with a particular interest in your organisation. They can be: users, clients, funders, members, volunteers, supporters, voters, employees – anyone who is involved in or affected by your organisation or its activities.

They tend to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - have paid staff in charge of day to day management; - cover a wide area (i.e. larger than just a neighbourhood of a few streets or a small number of people); - have a formal structure; - have a higher income; - be client-based; - offer support and development; - provide specialist or contracted services; - support client groups.
Volunteering	An activity that involves spending time, unpaid, doing something that aims to benefit the environment or someone (individuals or groups) other than, or in addition to, close relatives.
Voluntary Action Calderdale	Voluntary Action Calderdale provides infrastructure support to voluntary & community groups. It represents the interests of the voluntary and community sectors at a strategic level: locally, regionally and through our partners nationally. Section 1:

Key Principles

What this section contains:

A description of the key principles of the Calderdale Compact. These are the shared beliefs that underpin the whole of the Calderdale Compact.

What you need to do:

1. Read through these key principles.
2. Make everyone in your organisation aware of them. You could:
 - present them at a Management Committee meeting
 - publish them in a staff newsletter
 - pin them up on a notice board
 - include them in training materials for new employees.
3. You should especially make sure that staff who are involved with partnership working are aware of these principles.

Need help?

If there is anything you want to ask about this section, please see Page 2/3 for contact details.

1. Our Key Principles

As a Compact partner, we believe that:

- a) It is a good thing to have a range of different voluntary and community groups. These groups are an important part of what makes a democratic society work.
- b) We cannot achieve all of the things we want to achieve on our own.
- c) We need to work together in partnership with different sectors to be able to do what we want to do well.
- d) Successful partnerships are where partners understand and recognise each other's rights and responsibilities.
- e) Successful partnerships are where partners respect each other.
- f) Successful partnerships recognise that partners are different. Partners can have different purposes. Partners have different levels of resources and staff. Some partners will have to keep certain legal rules that won't affect everyone.
- g) Equality of opportunity is important. This means treating people equally and taking differences into account, whatever those differences are.
- h) Voluntary and community groups have a right to campaign and lobby other partners, as long as they don't break the law and as long as everyone understands what role they are playing. Not all groups will want to campaign or lobby, but if they do, other partners will respect their decision.
- i) Our partners have a right to expect us to take responsibility for our own actions.
- j) All partners need to show integrity, objectivity, openness, honesty and leadership.
- k) The best way of making sure that voluntary and community groups are sustainable is for them to have funding from a range of different sources.
- l) We need to communicate and work together at all levels of our organisations.

Section 2:

Your partners' commitments to you

What this section contains:

A description of everyone's commitments under the Compact, including the voluntary, community, public and private sectors.

What you need to do:

1. Read through these commitments.
2. Make sure that people in your organisation who are involved in partnership working are aware of them.

Need help?

If there is anything you want to ask about this section, please see Page 2/3 for contact details.

2. Our Partners' Commitments

Our voluntary or community sector partners recognise that:

- a) they have a responsibility to people who live in, work in, or visit Calderdale (although their particular interest or area of work might only be in one specific area of Calderdale, e.g. they might only actively work in Elland, or Todmorden, or they might only work with one particular client group, e.g. older people).
- b) they have a responsibility to the partners they work with, whether in the public or private sectors, or within the voluntary and community sectors themselves.

Our voluntary and community sector partners will:

Meet legal, reporting and financial obligations to funders and service users. They recognise that this is an important part of accountability to the public.

Observe the appropriate guidance from the Charity Commission including that on political activities and campaigning. (They only have to comply with this guidance if they are a registered charity; if they're not, the guidance might still represent good practice for them).

Develop quality standards that are relevant and appropriate to their group. (If they are a small group, it might not be appropriate for them to have formal quality standards, although they will still provide quality services).

Consult all relevant stakeholders in designing and developing services.

Accurately communicate the views of their members or users in the course of consultation or representation.

Implement policies that promote equality of opportunity in activities, services, campaigns, employment and volunteering.

Work with partners to ensure that all sectors continuously improve practice, policy and services for people in Calderdale.

Adopt and implement where relevant the Calderdale Compact Codes of Good Practice. (For more information on these Codes of Good Practice, see Section 4 of this toolkit)

Regularly review the impact of the Compact (mostly on their own organisation, but also by taking part in surveys that will help the Compact Steering Group review the overall impact of the Compact in Calderdale).

Make publicly available reasons or issues where they do not comply with the Compact. This may include occasions where they cannot reasonably be expected to comply, such as when compliance would adversely affect public health or safety.

Where appropriate, partners will challenge external forces that affect our ability to comply with the Compact. Plan in good time to reduce any potential negative impact on both service users and the organisation in case things start to go wrong.

Have clear lines of accountability within the organisation.

Be honest and transparent in reporting.

Have particular regard to the wider benefits of working with local suppliers when procuring services, wherever practical

2. Our Partners' Commitments

Our public sector partners recognise that:

- a) they have a responsibility to people who live in, work in, or visit Calderdale (although their particular interest or area of work might only be in one specific area of Calderdale, e.g. they might only actively work in Elland, or Todmorden, or they might only work with one particular client group, e.g. older people).
- b) they have a responsibility to the partners they work with, whether in the voluntary, community or private sectors, or within the public sector itself.
- c) the work of the voluntary and community sectors add value to the work of the public sector, whether through the contribution of volunteers or paid staff.

Our public sector partners will:

Actively encourage the participation of the voluntary and community sector in the development of policy and strategic documents.

Consult and involve the voluntary and community sector on issues that are likely to affect them.

Allocate and manage funding in a way that meets their own overall aim and vision.

Respect and value the campaigning and advocacy role of the voluntary and community sectors, and accept that sometimes this may conflict with their plans and decisions.

Take account of the different levels of resources available to many voluntary and community groups, compared with larger public sector agencies.

Recognise the specific needs and differences of community groups.

Recognise the unique contribution made by volunteers.

Adopt and implement, where relevant, the Calderdale Compact Codes of Good Practice. (For more information on these Codes of Good Practice, see Section 4 of this toolkit).

Regularly review the impact of the Compact (mostly on their own organisation, but also by taking part in surveys that will help the Compact Steering Group review the overall impact of the Compact in Calderdale).

Make publicly available reasons for issues where they do not comply with the Compact. This may include occasions where they cannot reasonably be expected to comply, such as when compliance would adversely affect public health or safety.

Where appropriate, partners will challenge external forces that affect our ability to comply with the Compact.

Plan in good time to reduce any potential negative impact on both service users and the organisation in case things start to go wrong.

Have clear lines of accountability within the organisation.

Be honest and transparent in reporting.

Have particular regard to the wider benefits of working with local suppliers when procuring services, wherever practical.

Consult with all relevant stakeholders in designing and developing services in a variety of methods.

2. Our Partners' Commitments

Our private sector partners recognise that:

- a) the voluntary and community sectors are important partners, including employers and service providers.
- b) the private sector has a role to play in supporting the unique contribution made by the voluntary and community sectors.

Our private sector partners will:

Value volunteering. Wherever practicable, they will support their employees to take part in voluntary and community activities.

Adopt and implement where relevant the Calderdale Compact Codes of Good Practice. (For more information on these Codes of Good Practice, see Section 4 of this toolkit).

Work in partnership with voluntary and community groups on issues of interest to all sectors.

Regularly review the impact of the Compact (mostly on their own organisation, but also by taking part in surveys that will help the Compact Steering Group review the overall impact of the Compact in Calderdale).

Make publicly available reasons for issues where they do not comply with the Compact. This may include occasions where they cannot reasonably be expected to comply, such as when compliance would adversely affect public health or safety.

Where appropriate, partners will challenge external forces that affect our ability to comply with the Compact.

Plan in good time to reduce any potential negative impact on both service users and the organisation in case things start to go wrong.

Have clear lines of accountability within the organisation.

Be honest and transparent in reporting.

Have particular regard to the wider benefits of working with local suppliers when procuring services, wherever practical.

Section 3:

Your Commitments

What this section contains:

A description of your commitments under the Compact requirements. There is space for you to identify which commitments you already meet, and which you might have to take some action on.

What you need to do:

1. Find the right version for your organisation, e.g. if you are a voluntary group, find the sheet headed "As a voluntary or community organisation...."
2. Read through the commitments on that sheet. (You will not need the other two versions of Section 3, as they are not relevant for you).
3. When you have read each commitment, decide for each one whether or not you already meet that commitment, or whether you need to take action to improve what you do in that particular area. Put a tick in the boxes next to each commitment to show whether or not you need to do anything differently.
4. Keep that sheet once you have completed it – you will use this to help you complete your Action Plan later on.
5. If you didn't find any areas where you could do better – well done! You might want to repeat this exercise after a while (six months or a year), to make sure that you are keeping to these very high standards.

Need help?

If there is anything you want to ask about this section, please see Page 2/3 for contact details.

Section 4:

Codes of Good Practice

What this section contains:

Four different Codes of Good Practice, setting out the best possible way of working in four key areas: funding, volunteering, consultation and working with community groups. There is space for you to identify where you already operate in accordance with best practice, and where you could do things better.

What you need to do:

1. Read through through each code. Remember: not every requirement will be relevant for you: if you don't give out funding, then you are not a funder, so you won't need to complete the sections headed "As a funder...".
2. You might play different roles at different times, e.g. you might be a funder, and also receive funding as a funded organisation, so you will have to complete both.
3. When you have read each requirement, decide for each one whether or not you already work in this way, or whether you need to take action to improve what you do in that particular area. Put a tick in the boxes next to each requirement to show whether or not you need to do anything differently.
4. Keep that sheet once you have completed it – you will use this to help you complete your Action Plan later on.
5. If you didn't find any areas where you could do better – well done! You might want to repeat this exercise after a while (six months or a year), to make sure that you are keeping to these very high standards.

4. Codes of Good Practice

We should all try to work according to best practice in what we do. To help Compact partners agree on what good practice is, the Compact includes a code of best practice on four key issues. These are the key issues that are most important in partnership working between the public, private, voluntary and community sectors:

- funding
- consultation
- volunteering
- community groups.

Each of the four principles of good practice represents the ideal that we should all aim towards.

However, in the real world, there may be good reasons why we cannot meet these high standards on individual occasions. For example, the Council has to meet legal deadlines on planning applications which means that it cannot allow 12 weeks for consultation, so we have to accept this. That doesn't mean that the Council should not try to apply best practice in consultation on other occasions.

By signing up to these principles, we are committing ourselves to try to achieve best practice across all of our work but we accept that there may be occasions when other factors make this impossible.

To help you try to achieve best practice, we have drawn up a checklist for each of the four key areas.

The checklists are designed to help you identify those areas where you already meet the best practice standard, and those areas for improvement where you may have to change the way that you do things to meet the principle of best practice.

Remember:

- not all of the principles will be relevant for every organisation: e.g. if you are not a funder, i.e. someone who gives out funding, then you will not need to complete the sections that start "As a funder..."
- you might play different roles at different times, eg you might be a funder, and also receive funding as a funded organisation, so you will have to complete both.
- where the checklist talks about recognising a principle, think about your organisation as a whole. Would everyone in your organisation recognise that principle, or could you improve by making other parts of your organisation more aware of best practice? e.g. you might know how sensible it is for a voluntary organisation to have reserves, but would everyone on your management committee understand this? Do any of your policies or procedures conflict with this?

Section 5:

Action Plan

What this section contains:

A blank table to help you draw up an Action Plan to meet all of the requirements of the Calderdale Compact, along with some advice on how to develop your plan.

What you need to do:

1. Find the sheets that you completed earlier for "Our Commitments" (Section 3) and the "Codes of Good Practice" (Section 4).
2. You will have some issues where you put a tick in the "We could do this better" column. Copy out that commitment or requirement into Column A in the Action Plan, called "Area for Improvement".
3. Complete each of the next 6 columns for that particular issue. Use the guidelines and example in the enclosed section to help you. Voluntary Action Calderdale offer specific help and guidance for voluntary and community groups who are new to action planning, so contact them for advice.
4. Make it happen! Use your usual work planning processes to build this work into your plans for the next few months or years. Review it regularly to make sure you are keeping to your target timescales.
5. Don't forget to report back to your stakeholders, when you successfully meet the different requirements.

Need help?

If there is anything you want to ask about this section, please see Page 2/3 for contact details.

5. Action Plan

Area for Improvement	Action to be taken	Person responsible	Resources needed	Timescale	Measure of success	Priority
Use this column to write in the commitment, or aspect of good practice where you identified that you could do better.	Use this column to explain exactly what you are going to do to improve. If you don't know what to do, then your first action might be to research the problem, or attend a training course. You might have more than one action for each area of improvement.	Use this column to identify the person who will be mainly responsible for making sure that the action happens. You might want to list any people who are helping them too, but you should make it clear who is in overall charge so that there isn't any confusion.	Use this column to identify what resources you will need, including time, both paid staff and volunteers. If you will need to spend money, e.g. on printing costs, then give an estimate of how much this will cost.	Use this column to show how long it will take you to finish. Action Plans with deadlines are more likely to result in something happening. You can either set a specific date (by 31st Sept 2005) or show when the work will be done (June 05)	Use this column to show how you will measure the success of what you've done. Think about how you would know that your action has worked, but try not to create too much extra work for yourself.	Use this column to show which actions you will tackle first, by numbering each action according to how high a priority it is. Use 1 for High Priority and 5 for Low Priority.
Example	Set up a list on the Council's website showing all grants	Sarah Manfredi (helped by Gail Mitchell in the website team)	Staff time to collect details of all grants (1 or 2 days) & put them online (1 day)	By 31st April 2006	List of all grants available on the website (to be checked in Apr 06)	3

Section 7:

What happens if things go wrong?

What this section contains:

A description of what to do if you think that a partner has broken the promises made through the Compact, or if you think a partner is not meeting the requirements of the Code of Good Practice.

What you need to do:

1. Read through this information.
2. Make sure that any colleagues in your organisation that are involved with partnership working are also aware of this information, particularly what you need to consider before making any formal complaint.

Need help?

If there is anything you want to ask about this section, please see Page 2/3 for contact details.

7. Dispute Resolution procedure

Overview

The Compact Steering Group will look at each case on its merits, and will get involved whenever it seems that the involvement of a neutral partner would be helpful. They will decide on the most appropriate course of action in each case. This might include contacting the partner concerned to obtain further information, or arranging an informal meeting between you and the other organisation with a member of the Steering Group present. They might involve the wider Community Engagement Partnership to help move things forward.

First steps if things go wrong

- Be reasonable. The Compact was launched in Calderdale in 2005. It will take time for all partners to adapt the way they work to make sure they meet the Compact requirements. Your Compact partner may already be working to address the problem.
- Be realistic. As well as identifying where your Compact partner has gone wrong, think about what you're expecting from them to put it right. Would it be very expensive to do this in the way that you want? Would it involve a lot of staff or volunteer time? Are there other ways of doing this particular thing that are more achievable?
- Bear in mind that there may be good reasons why your Compact Partner is not able to do what the Compact wants. For example, we all aim to provide 12 weeks for consultation, but in planning applications, the Council has a legal deadline of 8 weeks, so it simply cannot provide 12 weeks for consultation. This does not mean that the Council should not try and meet the 12 weeks standard on other occasions, but it does mean that it will not meet the 12 weeks standard for planning applications.

Once you have considered these issues, if you still feel that your Compact partner should take action, then there is a process you can follow to help you and your partner put things right.

Firstly, raise the issue with the partner that has breached the Compact

Write to the people in overall charge of running the organisation (if it is a voluntary or community sector partner: write to the Management Committee; if it is a public sector partner: write to the Chief Executive; if it is a private sector partner: write to the Manager)

Be specific about where you feel their organisation has not kept to the Compact. Give details of dates and times or send copies of any correspondence. Tell them what you think they need to do to put it right.

If you are unhappy with the response you have received from the partner concerned you can go to the next step:

Contacting the Steering Group

To ask the Compact Steering Group to get involved please contact Soo Nevison, Voluntary Action Calderdale, The Resource Centre, Hall Street, Halifax, HX1 5AY. In order to consider the case, the Steering Group will need copies of the following information:

- Copies of correspondence about the Compact breach (letters to and from the organisations involved)
- Evidence of the Compact breach (this should have already been considered by the organisation concerned)
- Any additional information/ evidence, which has become apparent since the original complaint.

The Steering Group will also want to know your preferred course of action and will follow this where possible. If this is not possible they will tell you why not.

You may want to contact the Steering Group if:

You may want to contact the Steering Group if:

1. You want to make sure that a record is kept by a neutral body of what you consider to be a Compact breach.
2. You want to discuss the complaint with a neutral body. You want to ask a neutral body to give their opinion on whether a Compact breach has taken place.
3. You want to ask a neutral body to mediate in discussions around how to solve a breach of the Compact.

It is important to bear in mind that the Compact Steering Group has no power to bring sanctions against any organisation. The Steering Group also reserves the right to refuse consideration of complaints. We will keep you informed during the process and aim to reach resolution within 12 weeks.

My complaint is about an organisation that is part of the Compact Steering Group – how will the group deal with this?

The Steering Group is comprised of a diverse partnership. Compact Steering Group members will declare any prejudicial interest in complaints cases as they arise. This could be due to personal contacts, family contacts, work commitments or other interests.

To ensure a fair hearing, it may be necessary to choose members of the Steering Group from different sectors to hear complaints. Steering group members will follow a Code of Conduct to ensure fairness, consistency and confidentiality. A copy of this is available on request and will be sent with the acknowledgement letter of your complaint.

Next steps

If you are unhappy with the response you have received from the Compact Steering Group please go to the next step:

Use the national Compact mediation scheme, delivered by CEDR-Solve. (Tel: 020 7536 6060; email: info@cedr-solve.com)

There will be a cost for this, which will be agreed between both parties, but will not prohibit small organisations benefiting from the scheme. In mediations, the parties themselves, with the help of a neutral mediator, work out a mutually acceptable solution. The mediation is carried out by a fully trained professional mediator and leads to a rapid and binding solution (about 80% of mediations settle within one day).

If the complaint is about the Compact Steering Group

The Steering Group Chair will investigate the complaint and write to you with a summary of their findings.

If you are not happy with the response you get from the Steering group Chair, you can ask for your complaint to be looked at again. This will be considered by the Community Engagement Partnership, which is part of Calderdale Forward. The Steering Group is responsible to Calderdale Forward.

Calderdale Compact Steering Group

Dispute Resolution procedure (internal)

On receiving a complaint

This should be acknowledged within seven days of receipt. The acknowledgement letter should outline the next steps that will be taken including any timescales involved. A copy of the Compact Steering Group code of conduct should be included. If further information is needed in order to progress the complaint, this should be listed.

The rest of the Steering Group can be contacted via email to make them aware of the complaint and what action needs to be taken. Steering group meetings are held quarterly, but this should not lead to a delay in response from the group.

Deciding a course of action

Complainants are asked to state their preferred course of action for the Steering Group to take. The Steering Group however must make it's own decision for what action to take based on the given evidence for the complaint. Reasons for the course of action to be taken should be recorded and explained to the complainant.

If the complaint is about the Compact Steering Group

The complaint should be dealt as above. The Steering Group Chair should investigate the complaint and respond to the complainant in writing within 30 days. Should the complainant not be satisfied with this response, they are able to ask for a second hearing. The complaint should then be taken to the Community Engagement Partnership for consideration. The complainant should be informed of their decision by letter.

Conflicts of interest

The Steering Group is comprised of a diverse partnership. Compact Steering Group members should declare any prejudicial interest in complaints cases as they arise. This could be due to personal contacts, family contacts, work commitments or other interests.

To ensure a fair hearing, it may be necessary to choose members of the Steering Group from different sectors to hear complaints. The Chair will form a sub-group to investigate the complaint. The following Code of Conduct will be observed to ensure fairness and consistency.

Calderdale Compact Steering Group

Code of Conduct

1. Declaration of Interests – this is based on the Calderdale MBC Code of Conduct for Council Members

Personal Interests

A member of the Calderdale Compact Steering Group must disclose any personal interest he/she has in a complaint being considered by the Steering Group.

A Steering Group member must regard him/herself as having a personal interest if a decision on a complaint might reasonably be regarded as affecting to a greater extent than other people in Calderdale the well-being or financial position of him/herself, a relative* or a friend, or

- any employment or business carried on by such persons;
- any person who employs or has appointed such persons, any firm in which they are a partner, or any company of which they are directors;
- any corporate body in which such persons have a beneficial interest in a class of securities exceeding the nominal value of £5,000; or
- any body listed below in which such persons hold a position of general control or management:
 - a body to which he or she has been appointed by the Council, or by the voluntary or community organisation which nominated them to the Panel, as its representative
 - a public authority or body exercising functions of a public nature
 - a company, industrial and provident society, charity, or body directed to charitable purposes;
 - a body whose principal purposes include the influence of public opinion or policy, and
 - a trade union or professional association.

* "Relative" means a spouse, a partner (a member of a couple who live together), parent, parent-in-law, son, daughter, step-son, step-daughter, child of a partner, brother, sister, grandparent, grandchild, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece, or the spouse or partner of any of these people.

If a Steering Group member has a personal interest in any complaint being considered, he/she should declare it at the meeting, before the discussion of that particular complaint. He/she can remain in the meeting, and take part in the discussion and recommendation, as long as he/she does not consider the interest to be prejudicial (see below).

The existence and nature of the personal interest, and the fact that the Steering group member remained in the meeting, will be recorded in the minutes.

Prejudicial Interest

A personal interest is considered prejudicial where a member of the public with knowledge of the relevant facts would reasonably regard the Steering Group member's personal interest to be so significant that it is likely to prejudice the Steering Group member's judgement.

If a Steering Group member has an interest in a complaint, which is prejudicial, he/she must withdraw from the meeting for the discussion and decision on that particular complaint.

The withdrawal of a Steering Group member will be recorded in the minutes.

2. Confidentiality

Decisions of the Steering Group will be made available to complainants, along with the reasons for each decision, but Steering Group members should respect any confidential information, which the applicant supplies, or any confidential discussion amongst the Steering Group, which takes place leading up the decision.

If a Steering Group member owes a duty of confidentiality to another organisation, they cannot be required to reveal confidential information to the wider group. They must however declare their interest; this will be treated as in point 1 above.

When recording complaints and breaches of the Compact, care should be taken to protect any issues of confidentiality. Reporting breaches of the Compact, for example to Calderdale Forward should be done as anonymous statistics or case studies.

3. Decision-making

Decisions on complaints will be made by consensus wherever possible. Where consensus is not possible, decisions will be made by a vote, with the Chair (and in the Chair's absence, the Deputy Chair) having a casting vote if necessary. Specific objections to the majority decision can be recorded in the minutes at the request of a Steering Group Member.

A further course of action

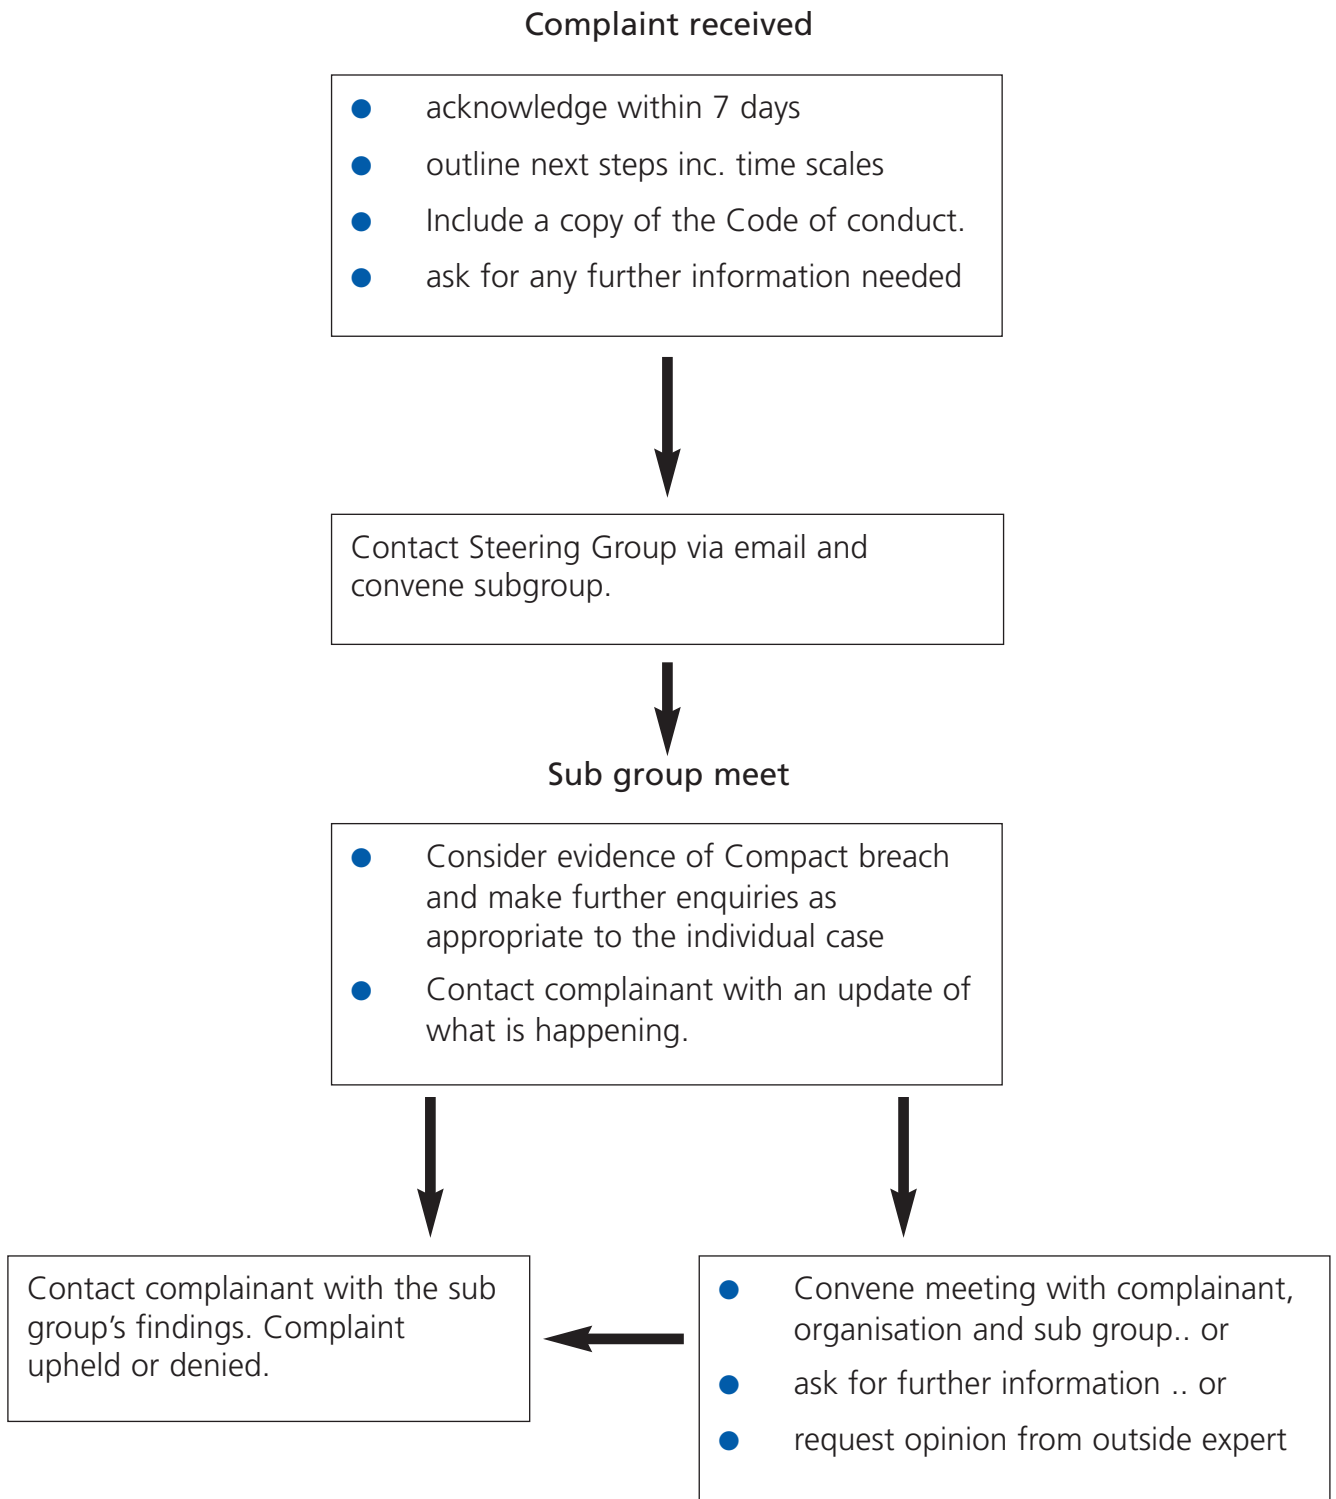

Complainants should be made aware that they have a further course of action should they not be happy with the response from the Steering Group.

They can use the national Compact mediation scheme, delivered by CEDR-Solve. (Tel: 020 7536 6060; email: info@cedr-solve.com) There will be a cost for this, which will be agreed between both parties, but will not prohibit small organisations benefiting from the scheme. In mediations, the parties themselves, with the help of a neutral mediator, work out a mutually acceptable solution. The mediation is carried out by a fully trained professional mediator and leads to a rapid and binding solution (about 80% of mediations settle within one day).

Training needs

We may want to consider mediation training for Steering Group members – another option could be the availability of trained mediators to advise the group.

8. How to sign up to the Calderdale Compact

By now, you should have read through the other documents in this toolkit. You should have a good idea of what the Compact is, and what it is trying to do.

Hopefully, you will agree with us that the Compact is a chance to improve the way we do things.

The Calderdale Compact will work better as more and more partners in Calderdale join. That is why we want your organisation to commit to joining us in the Calderdale Compact. The way to do this is to formally sign up.

By signing up to the Compact, you are agreeing to:

- share in the key principles of the Compact
- work towards meeting the commitments of your own sector
- try to work in line with the Codes of Good Practice

We don't expect you to be able to meet all of these requirements right now. Signing up to the Calderdale Compact means that you meet some requirements, and that you are going to take action to meet the rest. The important thing is that you intend to make changes wherever possible to meet the Compact's requirements.

On the back of this sheet is a form for you to sign. This should be signed by whoever is in charge of your organisation or work area. This could be a senior officer, a member of your management committee, or the owner of your business. Make sure that it is agreed at the right level, and that it goes through the right procedure for your particular organisation, partnership, service area etc.

Calderdale Compact

We agree to join the Calderdale Compact, to share its key principles, meet our commitments and work in line with good practice wherever possible.
